

The Placer County Conservation Reserve map generally shows where the Reserve System should be established in the Reserve Acquisition Area and integrated with existing reserves as well as where the majority of take from covered urban, suburban, and rural growth may occur which is designated as Potential Future Growth.