

The Plan area transitions from the Sacramento Valley into the Sierra Nevada foothills. The 200 foot elevation roughly defines the "Valley-Foothill" line which has biological and policy significance in the Plan.