

The Placer County Conservation Reserve map shows generally where the PCCP Reserve System would be established, integrated with existing reserves. The area designated as Potential Future Growth is where the majority of covered urban, suburban, and rural growth is expected.